Every Homeless Person Has a Mother
by Jacqueline Janssen

OUR SPEAKER

Jacqueline Janssen has consulted to businesses and nonprofit Boards, and she featured founders in her TV program, Architects of Opportunities.

She served on the Marin's Women's Commission as representative to the California Commission on Women, was a presenter at the UN Conference on Women, and was a Nominated Changemaker for President Obama's United States of Women. She is also an ongoing member of UN Women.

A former director on the NAMI Marin Board and the County Mental Health Board, Jacqueline is one of the creators of the Family Partnership Policy, advocating for families living with mental illness' participation in treatment and recovery.

Jacqueline Janssen's books include: A Brief History of NAMI Marin, LeaveLight: Preparing for Vulnerable Family Members Left Behind After One's Death, and Siege of the Heptanese: Bare-boat Sailing in Greece. She is currently completing Every Homeless Person Has a Mother: How to Prevent Homelessness by Valuing Mothers' aka Women's Voices.

OUR TOPIC
Every Homeless Person Has a Mother:
What Can We Do About HIPAA?

When our family member is diagnosed with mental illness, providers may not realize that "Research overwhelmingly shows that when families take an active part in treatment decisions...[there are] fewer numbers of relapses, hospitalizations," and it reduces homelessness." NAMI

This presentation will include:

- Advocating for better recovery outcomes for all family members.
- Your peace through advocacy and advocacy through peace.
